Mayor Entertains Council and Officials

At His Home on Fifth Street Last Thursday Evening

The Mayor and Mrs. Worts entertained the Town Councilors and town officials to a dinner at their home on Fifth street, last evening. After partaking of a very fine dinner in keeping with this festive season, several appropriate toasts were proposed and very ably responded to. The Mayor took advantage of the occasion to thank the councilors and town officials for the harmonious manner in which the affairs of the town had been conducted during the past year, and the splendid spirit of co-operation which had been shown him as Mayor.

All were of the opinion that the Mayor and Redcliff's first Mayor made a charming host and hostess, and all voiced the hope that this was just the breaking of the ice for many more such gatherings.

Mrs. Moore entertained a number of friends at her home Tuesday evening week, in honor of Miss Jones, who was married last Saturday. During the evening, a few games were played and enjoyed by everybody. Miss Jones was then blindfolded and a very pretty decorated basket was not before her. The hostess made a nice speech before handing the presents to Miss Jones. The basket contained many useful and beautiful gifts. The hostess then served a delicious lunch. A few more games were played after which the guests departed, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

Again the school boys outgrow their clothes. Publishing circles report the expenditure of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of close upon a half million dollars for huge new printing presses to cope with their fast-growing subscription list. At their new low subscription rate of three years for $2, one is prompted to ask "How long before they outgrow this one?"

Bi-Lingual "Chanty" Sea Discovered

RALPH CONNOR
Ralph Connor, the well known Canadian novelist, collected recently from a half-breed voyageur in the Canadian Northwest a highly interesting folksong which will be sung at the Vancouver Sea Music Festival next January by Ulysses Paquin, of Montreal. This song is half French, half English, the first part being the story of a halibut catch while the chorus is an English sea chanty. "Blow ye winds of morning," "This blowing and singing appears to have been popular many years ago at a time when while ships were reported to large quantities of the old sailing ships from Quebec which carried across the lake rafted down the St. Lawrence from the Ottawa River. The word "chanty" is considered with the "chanties" of the Quebec lumberjacks who frequently were sailors as well as woodmen and always sang at their work. According to Ralph Connor, the half-breed or native from whom he recorded this song was a handsome chap with bright white teeth and manner and was a firer class than any Canadian chanties as well will be sung by Ulysses Paquin, at Vancouver, as the intention is to make this Sea Music Festival as Canadian as possible.

Glassblowers Ball Was Great Success

One of The Largest Crowds of The Season in Attendance

The Glassblowers' annual benefit ball, held last Monday evening at the Redcliff Hall attracted one of the largest crowds of the season.

So thoroughly did all enjoy the evening, upranging list when it was completed they were left to leave and members of the committee were prevailed upon to carry on for almost another hour. As a result of their venture the committee will have a tidy sum for their benefit fund.

The committee wish to extend the hearty thanks of "their organization" to all those who helped in any way to make the event the great success it was.

King George is now reported to be out of danger and prospects are good for his climate recovery.

Redcliff Couple Wed Last Saturday

Miss Agnes Jones and Mr. Maxwell McCleary Married at St. Ambrose

St. Ambrose Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, Dec. 29th, when Agnes Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, was united in marriage to Mr. George Maxwell McCleary. The youthful bride, in her wedding gown of white georgette and silk lace and white bridal veil, made a pretty picture as she proceeded up the aisle on the arm of her father.

Miss Margaret Moore was the bride's maid, and were the bridesmaids and flower girls. The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

Miss Hicks, of Calgary, spent the holiday season with her mother here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Deane and son are visiting friends in Spokane and other southern points.

Canada's increasing agricultural, industrial and commercial production is making more and greater demands upon transportation, and the country's railways must always be a part of the plan of the future in order to keep up with them. That, in a town within a city, sixty-five hundred men with a monthly payroll little short of a million dollars will be engaged all winter building, equipping and repairing stock for the one great Canadian Company reflects not only the immediate benefits of a record crop year, but the encouraging and inspiring confidence of its directors in the continued prosperity of the country. This is particularly true when one realizes that the Angus Shops of the Canadian Pacific which employ these sixty-five hundred men and through them support, say, a community of at least twenty thousand within the city of Montreal, is not engaged in the actual construction of the freight cars and locomotives, that the frames for the passenger equipment are purchased outside and that these shops alone do not handle the whole of the repair work of the system; there being other shops in the west. The present volume of work and the probability of further increases are due to the orders for rolling stock that have been placed with various Canadian steel construction companies. The steel frames are built at Hamilton and other points in Canada and are taken to Angus where the finishing is carried out. One hundred and six passenger cars, including sleepers, diners, first class coaches and other equipment will have to be handled through by the Angus shops, while at present the construction of 20 locomotives, 7 snow ploughs and 2 rail boats is going on. At present, also, eleven repaired passenger cars and 120 freight cars are being turned out daily, and every five-hours and forty-five minutes shop time, an overhauled and repainted locomotive is returned to service. The Angus shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway, situated on the eastern outskirts of Montreal on the continent, they cover 300 acres of ground and handle each year upwards of 20,000 railroad cars of various sorts and descriptions. The first two of the 1,500 type of locomotive, the largest in the British Empire, were built at Angus by the company's own employees and from its own design.

Motor Accidents At Level Crossings
Due To Carelessness

In view of the widespread attention that has been directed to the matter of motor accidents during the past season, it is interesting to note that out of 864 deaths caused during the year 1927, only a total of eighty, or nine per cent occurred at railway crossings. While the number is depressed, as being too many, there is reason for encouragement in the fact that government reports recently issued note a marked tendency towards a decrease in this percentage of crossing fatalities.

The year's total of 864 motor accidents compares with 900 during 1926, the increase largely reflecting in the number of motor cars traveling on Canadian roads. Despite this fact, railroad crossing fatalities for the two years were exactly the same, numbering eighty. Thus, while the percentage of such fatalities in 1927 was nine, in 1926 it was over thirteen per cent.

It is interesting to note that the total death rate in Canada from motor accidents in 1927 was 9.3 per hundred thousand of population, and for 1926, it was 11.5. In the United States during 1926, the latest year for which figures are available, the rate was 22.2, so actually less than our own. This fact, and also the diminishing percentage of crossing accidents in Canada may be set down to the various safety campaigns that have been carried on, and to the effect that have been put forward.

In the way of crossing protection and by the publicity in which latter direction they have been greatly aided by the public-spirited attitude of the press towards the matter.

The report of the Board of Railway Commissioners shows that forty-five accidents occurred at protected crossings, and also that during 1927, there were seventy-four accidents as a result of motor vehicles running into the sides of trains, and twelve unfortunate attempts to beat the train. In the preamble the report states: "Obstructing safety devices and cautionary signals, people take chances and disregard safety. Motor accidents are becoming more frequent. Every sane motorist deplores this. If accidents are to be lessened, the same motorist must educate the culpably negligent motorists."

In co-operating in the elimination of grade crossings, in supplementing recognized and standard warnings with wig-wags and other devices that railways are doing a great work towards the still further reduction of crossing accidents; but they cannot do the work alone as is demonstrated by the report which shows that day by day the automobile drive "ignores warning; broke through gates." Did not look for the approach of train, faster and danger killed. "Crashed into side of train, killed $10 in court." These actual quotations from the list of "dangerous practices" are from the report of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

A report issued by Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that in the Province of Quebec, Montreal is responsible for one half of all automobile deaths. Toronto's contribution in Ontario was only about twenty-three per cent. of the total. It is to be noted, however, that in the case of fatalities occurring outside the city limits, the injured are frequently hurried to city hospitals and thus unnecessarily increase the city death rate.

Old Lady (to men struggling to move large piece of stone in a quarry)—"My good men, why don't you try blasting it?"

Workman—"Well, mum, me and my mates has used every kind of swear word we know, but it ain't moved it yet."

"What, that man there? He's my grandfather."

"Is he on your mother's side or your father's?"

"Oh, he sticks up for both of them."

Youthful Radio Expert

Seventeen-Year-Old Boy Joins Expedition To South America

Another striking demonstration of the opportunities that are coming to the youth of the country through knowledge of radio was afforded in the departure from New York recently for a year in the South American jungles by the American-Brazilian Scientific Expedition to the Amazon Valley. Once more a youthful expert in the installation and handling of wireless apparatus was entrusted with the responsibility of supplying the outside world, via the magical short waves, of the progress made by the explorers, who in this case are to map a hitherto unexplored area far up the "cannibal fish" infested Arica River, seek a lost Phoenician city, try to find a new source of chicle supply and to bring back to the north specimens of fern never before shown in the United States.

Eric Palmer, Jr., of Brooklyn, who will be seventeen years old in January, is the youngest member of the expedition and also the youngest operator ever assigned to handle the radio service that is of such importance for information and protection on such a perilous invasion of the wild.

Under the new status of affairs, the wireless operator is a vital factor upon whom a great deal depends on the success of any expedition tour. Romance speeds on the carrier waves, and that is why thousands of lads are studying wireless and experimenting with the high frequencies, the possibilities of which are just being discovered, as they span continents and leap over seas. The public is just beginning to get a true insight into the work of the so-called "ham," who in moments of disaster keep coconuts vigil before their keys, throughout Canada and the U.S.A.

With the establishment of the standard list of variety names of vegetables there is a need for descriptions of varieties, and to meet this need with respect to peas for garden and canning purposes, the experimental farm had just published a bulletin in which is given the description of twenty-two varieties of peas. As one of these Extra Early (first and best) has in the neighborhood of sixty synonyms there seems to be some need for the publishing of the description of some varieties. The descriptions cover the synonymy, type of seed, color, number of dry seeds per ounce, description of the plant, size and number of peas to the pod, and adaptation. The bulletin covering this subject is No. 107 entitled "Peas" and may be had on application to the Publication Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The standard description is given of the following varieties: Pilot, Laxton Super, Extra Early (first and best), Blue Banner, Thomas Laxton, Laxton, Daisy, Lincoln, Aldermar, Wintgreen, Telephone, Champion of England, Cherry of Devon, Quile Canon, Gladstone, No Plus Ultra, Mollington Super, Alaska, Advertiser, Hornford Market Pardon, Greenhead Admiral, and Horral.

In arriving at the standard description four strains of each variety were grown in order to secure typical plants. The Vegetable Committee of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association co-operated in this work.

Line in Agriculture

Necessary For Neutralization Of Acidity and Sourness

Line or chabonite of lime has two outstanding uses in agriculture, the rapid correction of acidity or sourness and the improvement of soil or mechanical condition of soils. These points are both recognized as of primary importance in the production of maximum crops.

Wet, low-lying and drained soils are very liable to become sour, and while known as mucks and peat lands are quite often sour. Many light upland soils are slightly sour, due no doubt to a washing out, and leaching away of the carbonates of lime.

In testing for acidity or sourness blue litmus paper may be used. This paper may be bought at any drug store. If the blue litmus paper is turned red when put on the soil, it is proof of sourness, and means that the soil needs liming or an application of some or ground limestone. In making the test it is better to take samples of soil from several places and after mixing them place a little of the soil in a tumbler, pour on a little of the boiled water and stir into a thick paste. Into this paste a piece of the blue litmus paper is placed and leave for fifteen minutes. When removed it is found to be red the soil needs treatment. This is one of the simplest of tests.

Lime and its compounds are useful in clay loams, to render them sticky when wet and more friable when dry. On light soils the very slight compaction of the soil, particularly making, the soil a little heavier and closer in texture and less liable to blow out. Dr. F. T. Smith, Dominion Chemist, deals very fully with this subject in Bulletin No. 8 entitled "Lime in Agriculture," which may be had on application to the Publications Branch, Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Eliminating the Trouble
A certain railroad company had investigated a record of the wrecks on their road. It was found that it was always the last car that was damaged. To remedy the trouble they took off the last car.

Mr. Uppity was about to pass into the Great Unknown. "Doctor!" he cried. "I'm going—I'm going—call my car."

A Kansas editor dispenses of the "origin of man" controversy by declaring: "We are here, because we are here."

The housewife finds it much more difficult to get an accident policy than the stenographer, the factory worker, the clerk and even the circus girl. The reason advanced by insurance companies is that, there is no method by which safety restrictions are introduced in the home.

The high casualty list among women in the home is due to the housewife's own persistence in doing the day's work, even when weary from long hours, to her lack of proper tools, or unfamiliarity with the tools she has.

Cleaning Up Canadian Herds

Rapid Progress Made In Eradication Of Tuberculosis

Good progress is being made in clearing cattle on Canadian farms of the disease of tuberculosis. This disease is very common in practically every country where cattle are raised. For many years efforts have been made to clean up the disease with the ultimate objective in mind of complete eradication. The Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, has made wonderful progress in this work in recent years. Two main policies are in operation: the Accredited Herd Plan, which deals only with pure bred herds, and the Restricted Area Plan, which undertakes to clean up and maintain in a clean condition whole districts rather than individual herds. In the report of the Veterinary Director General for the past year available at the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, it is shown that there are now approximately 25,000 fully accredited pure bred cattle contained in 2,850 herds. Under the Restricted Area Plan, there are districts in Canada that are now free from tuberculosis. The total area covers approximately 11,800 square miles containing about 250,000 cattle. The line of procedure in this work is for officers of the department to apply the tuberculosis test to all cattle, to slaughter and pay compensation for the diseased animals and to disinfect the premises. At intervals thereafter the herds are again tested until reactors are no longer found.

The report of the Director General contains a most interesting account of the efforts that are made by the department not only to eradicate such diseases as tuberculosis, but to control such other diseases as cause heavy losses to live stock owners.

A Hazardous Occupation
Few Accident Insurance Companies Will Write Policies For Housewife

Housework is the most dangerous of all occupations for women, according to reports made to the women's division of the National Survey Council, Bureau of Census.

This is no news to insurance companies. Few companies permit accident insurances for women in the home, and those that do, charge higher rates.

The housewife finds it much more difficult to get an accident policy than the stenographer, the factory worker, the clerk and even the circus girl. The reason advanced by insurance companies is that, there is no method by which safety restrictions are introduced in the home.

The high casualty list among women in the home is due to the housewife's own persistence in doing the day's work, even when weary from long hours, to her lack of proper tools, or unfamiliarity with the tools she has.

World's Oldest Wedded Pair

Serbian Couple Have Been Married Eighty-Nine Years

In a little Serbian village near Semlin are living probably the oldest married couple in the world. Documentary evidence proves that Petrus Filenovic and his wife, Zivana, were already married and living in the village where they spent their childhood days in 1839. Zivana was then over twenty-one. He is fully 110, and his wife is 107.

They have lived together for eighty-nine years, and are now surrounded by numerous children, grand children and great-grand children, says a writer in "Tit-bit." Both are in excellent health and in the enjoyment of all their faculties. Filenovic has never smoked nor drunk spirits. He took his last glass of wine thirty years ago.

A concern that once produced a striking ink had the following to say about its product: "It is remarkable for requiring no preparation, penetrates powerfully, precludes previous pre-requisite preparations, possesses particular prerogatives; protects private property; prevents promiscuous pilfering persons practicing promiscuous proprietorship; pleasantly performing plain practical penmanship; perfectly precludes purple panegyrics, preferring proper public patronage."

Canada's Great Prosperity

People Can Face the Future With Every Confidence

Never in history has Canada been in such comfortable and prosperous shape or faced the future with greater confidence and assurance. Dominion leaders refer to this and the people of the country cannot but be aware of it. The record grain crop which the western provinces have gathered in has resulted that optimism generated in all phases of activity. Each successive month of the year has been so far from bringing the prospect in all phases of Canadian endeavor, and all figures of employment have been broken back to the height of post-war activity in 1920. Construction, manufacturing, transportation, mining, trade, communications and services all record substantial and encouraging gains.

An Ancient Roadway

Built Across Mexico Is Probably Older Than Our North American

The old Spanish road, built across Mexico in the sixteenth century is believed to be the oldest road on the North American Continent. It was built in the form of a letter "Y" with the lower point of the stem starting at Vera Cruz on the Gulf. The northern prong touches the Pacific at San Blas, and the southern tip at Acapulco. Because of this road the west-bound convoys from the Philippines were spared the dangerous navigation around Cape Horn. There is still evidence that this old trail was used by the Indians before the Spaniards branched it from a pack-mule path to a highway.

Opposing Construction
Of German Warship

Country Cannot Afford This Expensive Bay Social Democrats

There seems to be some common sense in the argument of the German Social-Democrats who are opposing the construction of the new German warship to be built since the end of the Great War, Germany can ill afford to spend the money on a new warship which would be no match for the navies of other countries. One of the leaders declares: "Our warship would be a beginning, however, and it could prove a starting-point toward the development of a real navy. If Germany has aspirations toward naval power, a start must be made in some direction. But with the burden of war still pressing upon her people, naval ambitions would appear to be a luxury which Germany might well forego."

Ancient Greeks Used Asbestos

Mineral Which Withstands Fire Was Called "The Unconsumable"

Few of the world's minerals have had a more curious history than asbestos, and few are more curious in its uses. The Greeks called it "the unconsumable," whilst the "Tartars" and the Assyrians were aware of the strange, fibre-like rock that could withstand fire.

Its earliest known use was for the shrouds of kings, whose dead bodies were wrapped in asbestos cloth, so that their ashes might be kept separate from those of the funeral pyre.

Mysteries Of Lightning

Scientists Have Discovered Peculiar Facts Not Known Before

Scientists have now succeeded in measuring lightning. They state that a flash takes about one-seventh of a second to complete itself, and so "part of it last more than approximately one-thirty-five of a second. This is the first time in history that the speed of a lightning flash has been measured."

It has also been proved that lightning starts from the clouds and the ground at nearly the same instant, and approximately one-seventh of a second after the first two ends unite in mid-air.

These facts were determined by Dr. C. U. Boys, a British physicist, who has been attempting hundreds of photographs for the last twenty-six years, until a stroke of lightning in New York at last gave him this information.

Mars Will Always
Be Interesting Study

Scientists Are Steadily Increasing Their Knowledge Of This Planet

Scientists are continuing to study Mars and increase their knowledge of the planet that bears so strange a resemblance to our own earth.

A recent article in the Contemporary Science notes up what is fully known of this planetary neighbor, the author declaring that it is quite probable that animal life exists on Mars and that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that such animal life has culminated in a race of intelligent beings further advanced than the inhabitants of the earth in the journey of life.

That Mars is criss-crossed by canals whose regularity provokes the belief that they have been made by some intelligent agency has long been known, but until comparatively recent years it was believed by astronomers that life on Mars was impossible. Because water was thought to be non-existent in the Martian atmosphere and because its temperature was too low to support life. In 1920, however, the presence of water vapor was definitely proved, and in 1924 1925 observations were made which indicated the need for a larger meeting place the grandstand will be available for seating for the first time in the history of the planet. It will be installed for the "Grain Congress," Mr. Ederkin said, "so that a seat will be available for all the addresses. It is intended to have at least six or eight small halls where various sections may have their meetings."

"It is planned to reserve hotel accommodation for distinguished visitors. The loyalty of the citizens of Regina can be counted upon to open their homes to the rest as was done in 1914 during the poultry congress."

"The city of Regina will be asked to provide tent city for the accommodation of all the thousands of visitors, while provision will be made for seating the thousands who will be attending the various meetings of our camp organization. It is intended to provide sleeping accommodation for as many as 50,000 people."

New York's Newest Club

Plans To Prevent Accidents To Automobiles

There are three automobiles in the automobile world, but a new one has been launched, nevertheless, and it is intended to make its membership virtually equal to the complete roster of motorists in America. It has received a charter from the Secretary of State of New York, and its name is the Stay Alive Club. Its founders are in their own words, "to keep themselves from killing anybody, and to protect themselves from being killed by anybody else."

A life membership in this club costs only $3.00, and carries with it a copy of a new book, entitled "Stay Alive." The author is Marcus A. Duggan, president of the National Safety Council, and in it he tells just how the automobilist may get into thirty different kinds of motor accidents, but also how he may keep out of these same thirty kinds of accidents, if he really wants to stay alive and is willing to keep his eyes open and do a little, real thinking.

More than fifty great corporations have given their hearty indorsement to the purpose and methods of the club, and it has the approval of the National Safety Council, the work of which, in many different fields, has saved innumerable lives in recent years.

Majority Of Cases

There may be something in the contention that the absence of popular nicknames for present-day political leaders—with the possible exception of "dix"—shows a lack of personality, but it is quite probable that politicians of the past would readily have dispensed with some of the labels attached to them by their contemporaries. Wellington "Duke" to his admirers, was "Old Nosey" to his numerous enemies, Brougham was commonly referred to as "Beelzebub" or the "Arch Friend" and Peel went by the pleasant title of "Spanning Jenny." And Cressy habitually referred to Lord John Russell as "Pie and Thimble," Lord Ripon as the "Imp," and the Duke of Cleveland as "Nifty-Nifty."

Nicknames Of The Past

Personality Was Not Considered In Majority Of Cases

Plans For World
Wheat Congress

Regina Already Preparing For Big Agricultural Show

A building with floor space infilling ten acres will be built in Regina for the World Wheat Congress, which takes place during 1922.

This fact was made known in a statement of J. H. Ederkin, secretary-manager of the Regina Exhibition Board. Some of the buildings will be used for exhibits, Mr. Ederkin adds, representing agriculture, industry, women's work, etc.

Preparations to be made in Regina for the conference were carefully outlined in Mr. Ederkin's report, which says in part:

"The city of Regina and the Exhibition Association have undertaken to provide accommodation."

"For the housing of the exhibits it is intended to erect a building with a space of ten to fifteen acres. Some forty buildings also will be used for exhibits representing other products of agriculture, such as the work of school exhibits, fine arts, etc."

"The stadium provides seating for 6,000 people and the armory 8,000. Should conditions indicate the need for a larger meeting place the grandstand will be available for seating for the first time in the history of the planet. It will be installed for the "Grain Congress," Mr. Ederkin said, "so that a seat will be available for all the addresses. It is intended to have at least six or eight small halls where various sections may have their meetings."

"It is planned to reserve hotel accommodation for distinguished visitors. The loyalty of the citizens of Regina can be counted upon to open their homes to the rest as was done in 1914 during the poultry congress."

It is intended to provide sleeping accommodation for as many as 50,000 people."

It was pointed out that the congress would coincide with the 20th anniversary of the beginning of agricultural development in the mid-west as a result of the establishment of railway transportation. It would also be the 50th anniversary of Regina which was selected in 1882 as the site for the capital of what was then the Northwest Territory.

The preliminary prize list committee includes: Dr. J. H. Ederkin, deputy minister of agriculture, chairman; J. A. Mooney, G. H. Clarke, L. H. Newman and D. T. Ederkin.

The prize list, as suggested by the committee's report, calls for prizes totalling $250,000.

In the wheat section, with six varieties of wheat, a total of $15,000 in prizes is offered for each variety or $90,000 in all. The manifestly less important prizes for other crops are totalling $25,000.

The general committee as accepted includes: Hon. W. R. Motherwell, deputy minister of agriculture, chairman; A. Dunning, Hon. James Malcolm, Hon. Robert Burke, together with the provincial ministers of agriculture, the representatives of the Canadian Seed Growers Association, Canadian Millers' Association, Canadian Bakers' Association, Canadian Farmers' Association, Canadian Press Association, and the deans of all agricultural colleges.
